Patrick Nolan becomes Eagle

Patrick P. Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Nolan of Sierra Madre, was honored last Tuesday at St. Rita's Church auditorium when he became an Eagle Scout from Troop 373.

One of Pat's community projects was plastering and painting walls and ceilings at C.L.I.M.B., the school for the visually disabled in Sierra Madre. He and other Scouts from Troop 373 completed the work and Pat received letters of commendation and recommendation to the level of Eagle Scout by Scoutmaster Charles Carpenter, Rev. Douglas Saunders and other citizens from the community.

As a result, on Mar. 26, Pat was recognized as having attained the highest rank of Scouting by the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America.

In his acceptance speech, the youth expressed his love for his country and his respect for his four Scoutmasters who were examples of "patriotism, leadership and courage." He also addressed his his fellow Scouts. "I feel my unforgettable experience in Scouting led me to be a whole and happy person and I want to encourage other Scouts to strive for the rank of Eage."

Pat joined the Boy Scouts in July of 1982. With the guidance of Scoutmaster Rudy Braun, Pat received his rank of Scout, Tenderfoot and Second Class. Bill Simcock, Scoutmaster in 1984, encouraged Pat to continue his efforts in Scouting and helped him to reach First Class and Star Rank. Pat's determination was further spurred by the support and direction given by the current

Rosenkranz up for 'state teacher'

Shirley Rosenkranz, Sierra Madre resident, will know by the end of this week if she is California Teacher of the Year.

She is one of the four finalists chosen from around California. Originally, each district chose a representative, then a committee from the Los Angeles County Office of Education reviewed the Los Angeles County nominations.

Rosenkranz was one of 11 selected from the county and then she became one of the final four from around the state.

Others are David Winters, science teacher from Santa Barbara Junior High School; Bruce Hart, 7th and 8th grade teacher from Fieldbrook Elementary School in Humboldt County; and Frank Borgia, history teacher at Hiram Johnson High School in Sacramento County.

Criteria include being a fulltime teacher, being exceptionally skillful and dedicated teacher with plans to continue in the field; receiving the respect and admiration of students, parents and co-workers, active and useful in roles within their communities as well as in the school; and having the energy and equanimity to withstand busy schedules since the award carries with it a number of public appearances.

The English teacher at Temple City High School has been described by Dr. Wesley Bosson, superintendent of Temple City Unified School District, as the model teacher.

She encouraged her students toward writing a book with a sequel which has recently been published. "Kindred Spirits" can be found at Continuum Books in Sierra Madre. Her original educational material is on sale at Country Phone Emporium, Sierra Madre.

Rosenkranz was born in Chicago and grew up in Wisconsin. She majored in English and history at the University of Wisconsin and migrated to San Francisco over 20 years ago. She moved to Sierra Madre in 1966 since, she says, she has a great interest in older homes.

The winning teacher is active in the Preserva-

Council defers engine decision for two weeks

After much hand-wringing the Sierra Madre City Council Tuesday evening decided to wait until the next regular meeting (which is Nov. 12 because the regular date, Nov. 11, is a holiday) to vote on whether or not to sanction a new fire engine for the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

Both Councilmen Clem Bartolai and Sam Simpson were reticent to continue without Mayor Lisa Fowler's presence. Fowler was at a business meeting Tuesday evening and was unable to attend the council meeting.

By Nov. 12 City Administrator Jim McRea will present possible financing of the $167,000 truck (plus $20,000 in additional equipment).

More specific information will appear in next week's edition of The News.

Councilmen adopted Ordinance No. 1026, providing for the city to assume responsibility through the fire department for the control of hazardous materials in the city.

More discussion followed with the aim to provide additional locker space and facilities for women firefighters and police in the proposed police and fire facility expansion. Crow asked for a cost proposal for the next meeting.

Crow also noted that, in his opinion, acting City Engineer Zimmerman's performance "is marginal," and requested, through a motion, for a complete update and schedule for refurbishing the water tunnels within 30 days.

They extended for 45 days the ordinance for the R-3 front yard ordinance and decided to give the city employees a Christmas dinner with awards to those who had been with the city for several years. McRea told Councilmembers that of the 50 employees some had been there for over 30 years.

Johnson's trial to start in 10 days

Date of the murder trail of Vernon Vilroy Johnson, Sierra Madre, will be set on Nov. 3 in Superior Court, Dept. H. The trial will probably begin in 10 days from this date.

Johnson is accused of murdering his wife, Betty Florence Johnson, whose body was found a block from the Johnson home in Sierra Madre 1½ years ago. According to coroners' reports, Mrs. Johnson died of a gunshot wound to her head.

A gun was found early the next morning by the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team down the cliff from the Johnson home.

Johnson has been out on $50,000 bail since being arrested the day after the murder.

The trial is open to the public.

Rule, Westkamper exchange remarks as water board candidates

Bernard Westkamper, incumbent for the position of board member, San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District, and challenger Ralph Rule, both of Sierra Madre, were stars of Candidates' Night last Wednesday at Essick House, sponsored by Sierra Madre Woman's Club.

Westkamper gave a brief history of the role Sierra Madre has taken as part of the district these last years. "This district signed a contract with the state department of water resources . . . Probably in the 1930s or thereabouts, Metro Water District built a pipeline at Grandview Ave. (in Sierra Madre), and paid us $10,000 for the easement . . . In the '60s, Sierra Madre decided being part of the district was not a good idea and tried to get out of the district . . . The big problem is getting the water to Sierra Madre since the main pipeline doesn't go anywhere near us. That's been a bone of contention for years. The district is hopefully trying to get a well in Arcadia and get the systems to connect . . . There are a couple of stickers such as who's going to pay for the pumping costs? . . . My efforts in the district have been devoted to examining field operations. As a practical matter, there can be no further economics."

Challenger Ralph Rule explained why he had chosen to run for the job of director of the water district: "I believe Sierra Madre has taken the brunt of belonging to the district since 1957 . . . People in Sierra Madre should be concerned about supplemental water. They have not kept up to date. No one comes to Sierra Madre to tell the city fathers what is happening. I demand that Sierra Madre be brought up-to-date with some kind of supplemental water. This has nothing to do with your water. Only in a severe drought or an overdraft of the Raymond Basin (would bring on severe need to Sierra Madre). Sierra Madre hasn't had the need . . . If I were elected, I would go immediately to the City Council for guidance. Somebody must work to bring water to Sierra Madre. We don't have money to do it . . . In the '70s, I tried to get us to join MWD. It was voted down. I think it was a mistake to do that. For 29 years we've paid and have absolutely nothing to show for it . . . I'll do the hollering. I know Mr. Whiteside very well. With the cooperation of the City Council and the people, we'll get some kind of supplemental water."

In answer to the question of whether or not Sierra Madre needs supplemental water, Rule answered, "The cities of Azusa, Alhambra, Monterey Park and Sierra Madre have been paying. The money goes some place. I imagine they (the San Gabriel Water District) have a good bankroll."

Westkamper answered quickly, "In general, the district has been very careful with the use of funds. They have invested and utilize the interest of the money to reduce the taxes."

One question posed to the two candidates queried why Sierra Madre does not have pumping rights if we belong to the water district. Westkemper answered, "Arcadia pumps in the San Gabriel Valley Basin. I have no reservations for joining MWD. They spread water to build up the reserve in the San Gabriel Basin."

Rule said he had no objection to joining MWD and reminded the audience that he had introduced the possibility when he was mayor in the '70s.

An interrogator from the audience asked the men about clarity of Sierra Madre's water supply and Westkamper answered, "Feather River water contains no carcinogens (explaining the origin of our water), there are no carcinogens in Sierra Madre water . . . Generally speaking, the two wells in the San Gabriel Basin are continually monitored."

Rule also supported Sierra Madre's water by explaining that we have "the best, cleanest, clearest water and we are not near any landfills. There is no leakage and no spills."

Rule went on to explain again that every city has to join a water district. "We were forced to join a district. We decided not to join and were called a maverick city . . . I can't see us joining MWD now because we'd have to pay back taxes since the beginning of time."

These two candidates are running for the same post: member of the Board of Directors of the San Gabriel Valley Water District. Residents of Sierra Madre will vote for one of them in the Nov. 4 election.

Joylouise Smith was moderator at Wednesday evening's debate and Rosita Huff was timekeeper.

Have you voted yet?

A special day is quickly approaching — November 4, 1986. On this day, you are requested to participate in one of the most significant freedoms guaranteed by the United States Constitution.

The qualifications are simple. You must be a citizen of the United States, you must be 18 years of age or older, and you must have a few minutes of spare time.

If, by chance, you are still baffled over the significance of this important event, Nov. 4 is Election Day. And, there are races in every state, on every level.

Candidates representing a diverse spectrum of views have been diligently working to gain your attention. These candidates want to represent you, your voice, your ideas, and your concerns in the democratic process. But, you must show that you care. You must vote.

Many Americans take their right to vote for granted. If we know the issues, if we have strong party affiliation, if we can identify with the candidate, and if we take some time, then we vote. But just imagine for a minute what the consequences would be if this privilege was taken away.

Equal representation is one of the pillars of our democratic system. There are 28 countries in the world dependent on this system. But voters in these democracies take greater advantage of their electoral processes. For example, in New Zealand, which has a voting system similar to our own, voter turnout is 90.4%. The average voter turnout in other democracies is 78.6%.

But since 1945, the average voter turnout in the United States is a mere 58.5%. On congressional election years, such as 1986, that number can drop by 10 to 20 percentage points.

If you forfeit your right to vote, you are saying that you don't care who represents you in the White House, in Congress, in the statehouse or on the school board. Media coverage of the elections has brought information to you on television, in the papers, on the radio, in your mailbox, and on billboards. Being aware is unavoidable.

This election year is offering a politically exciting battle over the control of the Senate. It is receiving attention both across the nation and around the world. It can affect the last two years of the Reagan administration. Clearly, Republicans want to keep control of the Senate, just as much as the Democrats want to take it back.

Now it's your duty to show that you care. Take advantage of your Constitutional privilege. On Nov. 4, go to the polls and vote.

A democracy which millions have fought to preserve is certainly worth those few minutes of your time.

Republicans outnumber Democrats in S. California

In surrounding cities and Sierra Madre, the Republicans outnumber the Democrats except for Pasadena. And although those facts are straight, Democrats are a tad ahead of the Republicans county-wide.

There are 1,965,052 Democrats (55.45%) and 1,249,160 Republicans (35.25%). American Independents number 33,780 (.95%), Libertarians are at 14,806 or .42% and Peace and Freedom members equal 13,880 or .39%. That leaves 6137 for miscellaneous and 260,567 (7.35%) who refuse to acknowledge their being a part of any of the parties.

Sierra Madre is made up of 2574 Democrats and 3971 Republicans; 80 American Independents, 52 Libertarians and 24 Peace and Freedom members; not counting miscellaneous or those who refuse to state their party affiliations. That leaves 7317 voters in this town.

Arcadia has a much higher percentage of Republicans at 18,896 with 8017 Democrats, naming only the leading parties. Monrovia has 7333 Republicans and 6313 Democrats.

Pasadena, however, has 33,860 Democrats and 26,254 Republicans out of 66,264 registered voters.

Ultimately, these numbers don't mean anything if those registered voters don't show up at the polls next week.

We urge you to exercise your voting rights next Tuesday, Nov. 4.

● Michael Dunnagan has landed an exciting role in the television series, "Highway to Heaven," and we'd like to congratulate this hometown hero and special friend.

Did you know that his parents, Jim and Barbara, are selling their home and going "out on the road" for a few months? We refuse to say "farewell" because we know they will undoubtedly be in and out of Sierra Madre.

● Can you guess this license plate? WDILY2U.

● The play, "Cats," will close Jan. 4 at the Shubert Theatre. Over 1,100,000 people will have seen the show that's based on T.S. Elliot's "Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats."

● The News is still selling the bright red pins with ribbons attached, observing "Red Ribbon Drug & Alcohol Abuse Prevention Week."

These buttons state "SAY NO TO DRUGS" and they are only $1.00 with the money going toward the California Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs and Californians for Drug Free Youth.

Even though the program runs through Nov. 3, we plan to continue our efforts toward stamping out ALL drugs, and that includes temperance toward alcohol.

● Dion Zamora, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Hehle of Windwood Lane in Sierra Madre, will guest star on the television show, "Webster," this evening, Halloween, at 8 p.m. on Channel 7. His father is owner of Restaurant Lozano in Sierra Madre.

The youngster is 10 and began his acting career three years ago. He has been on the Tonight Show and was in two recent episodes of "Still the Beaver" which will air sometime in February.

● Charlotte Blackmon was recently elected president of Telarts Foundation, Sierra Madre's cable television foundation. Steve Keszler is vice president; Daniel Nign III is secretary and Charles Corp is treasurer.

Other members of the Telarts board are Phyllis Chapman, Jim McRea, Mary Tumilty and Anne Pedersen.

● It is not a pleasure for us to report that Christopher Valencia was rushed to Methodist Hospital last Friday with what authorities believe is a vascular problem. We surely wish that good friend well . . .

● Irene Tornheim stopped in at The News office to report that she had been ailing this fall. She says she's feeling "so so."

Questions city code re: height limits of new buildings

The original of this letter was sent to Lisa Fowler, Mayor, Sierra Madre, and Charles Martin city attorney, with copies to the City Council, members and Planning Commissioners. Ed.

Do the new "16-unit condos on Mariposa" exceed the building height standards of the Sierra Madre Municipal Code?

R-3 Article IX Land Use, Chapter 1 zoning regulations Part G., Section 9354 (i) states that no building shall exceed thirty (30) feet in height or two stories above finish exterior grade, whichever is less. Has this Section been revised and no longer in use? Current printed codes in the Building Department do not indicate any revisions. Has the uniform building code formula to determine heights been followed? The 1973 Sierra Madre Municipal code definitions of height is more restrictive than the uniform building code. It states that the vertical distance is measured from the average finished grade of the lot immediately surrounding the building or structure which is subject to such measurement, to the highest part of such building or structure. Some exceptions are permitted, chimneys, flagpoles, etc.

Are the maximum building coverages being allowed for R-3 land use?

The Sierra Madre Municipal Code for R-3, Article IX Land Use, Chapter 1, Part G Section 0354(G) states that coverage shall not exceed sixty (60) percent of the lot. Covered area shall be considered to be the total amount of land covered by residential structures, garages and driveways. Has this section been revised to delete word "driveways?" What is the definition of driveways?

Your response by Nov. 21, 1986 will be greatly appreciated.

Our apologies . . .

Type was scrambled in the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Dept. story last week and there was some misinformation printed.

We would like to quote verbatim from the report from Fire Chief Roger J. Keith to the Mayor and City Council as follows:

The city currently operates three pumpers/engines. They are in order of age (newest being first):

Engine 41 — 1967 Crown, 1500 gpm.

Engine 43 — 1957 Crown, 1250 gpm purchased used from L.A. County '77.

Engine 42 — 1956 Crown, 1250 gpm.

Engine 41 cost $41,423 when purchased new and was considered state of the art and it replaced a 1946 Seagraves at the time it was placed into service.

Engine 42 cost $29,000 when purchased new and it replaced "Old Snort," the city's first piece of fire apparatus, a 1927 Pierce-Arrow.

Engine 43 cost $27,000 when purchased used from L.A. County Fire department in 1977, it replaced a used 1946 La France that had been purchased used from the city of Whittier in 1963 for $10,000.

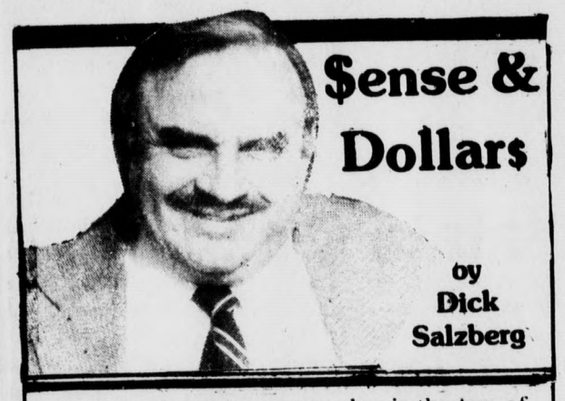

Our apologies. Ed.

Now that the new tax plan is the law of the land, a good review of where you stand and what's needed before the end of 1986 is a good idea. You may be situated so that you can sit tight — or you may need to make some major moves before New Year's eve rolls around.

If, for example, you have some nice tax shelters (including some forms of real estate), this may well be the last year of life for some shelters. You've heard that the provisions of the new law aren't fully in place until 1988? True: but many deductions, asorted shelters and even the late great capital gains tax will be gone on Jan. 1, 1987. At the same time, the new two-bracket system (15% and 28%) isn't a complete reality until the following year. Moral: 1987 may well be a good year to hold earnings down, if you can, because many deductions that bite the dust next year could boost your taxable income, even though your real income stays there and yawns at you.

While it's still mostly a mystery, just who wins and who loses under the new system, one thing is sure: the tax people are doing fine. Call yours now — even the most basic household budgets could be affected by this new ballgame.

And speaking of federal finance — "The high cost of living isn't so bad if you don't have to pay for it" —Don Marquis. "We are confronted with insurmountable opportunities" —Pogo (Walt Kelly).

Old Fashioned

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

Whether or not you will be celebrating, everyone knows what Oct. 31 is. It is Halloween or All Hallows' or All Saints' Eve, whichever you want to call it.

Halloween had its beginning back in the 7th century. It commemorated all the saints and martyrs who, sadly, had no day to themselves. Back then, Halloween was held on May 13. But then, somewhere in the 8th century it was moved to Nov. 1.

Halloween is a day of celebration, simply because it is the last day in the Celtic calendar and marks the end of summer and its fruitfulness. Such festivities included the lighting of a bonfire to help the sun through the winter — and winter bringing to mind a darkness, it was assumed that spirits — ghosts and goblins, witches and vampires — would walk the earth.

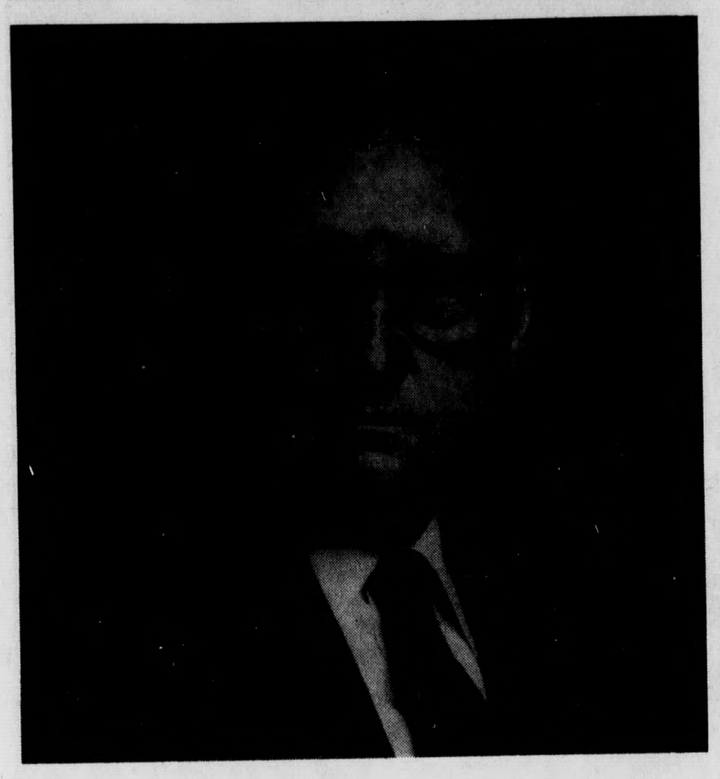

You know, it's funny but true that you must face your fears and I guess that is what we people of today do by wearing masks and costumes at Halloween. The legend goes that in the 18th and 19th century, people just plain got tired of being scared and started giving the "spirits" a taste of their own medicine. The spirits became so frightened themselves, they dared not to venture out on Oct. 31. That left kids and adults alike to join in the festivities of celebration of keeping the evil spirits at bay!

Fire prevention

Fire retardant roofs are recommended to resist flying embers and to prevent spread of fire to adjacent structures and watershed areas. The California FAIR Plan recommends you keep roofs and gutters free from leaves and other combustible materials. Install sprinklers on combustible roofs where practical.

Heirs of Bennett being sought

Heirs of a former resident of Sierra Madre are being sought by an oil business owner in Montana who is attempting to lease or complete title work on land she owned in that state.

Anyone who knows of heirs of Delfia Isabella Bennett who died Dec. 29, 1968, at Arcadia Convalescent Hospital are urged to contact Jay Gamrath of Douglas Bickerstaff at P.O. Box 548, Billings, Mont., 59103 or call (406) 259-2395.

According to William White, M.D., who practices medicine in Sierra Madre and was attending physician when Mrs. Bennett died of pulmonary edema, it has been discovered that Mrs. Bennett lived at 180 S. Mountail Trail with her sister, Aimee H. Worden, until 1967 when she was apparently moved to the convalescent hospital. Her sister lived on at that residence. Dr. White told The News that Mrs. Bennett had no children.

Bickerstaff says, "We often run into mineral interest split ups after people have moved or are dead. It takes some detective work to know if we may drill on the land. Few people disappear. This is just one of many people we're looking for who own mineral or royalty interest in lands in Montana."

Youth decorate with Halloween theme

By Marguerite Bowman

This past weekend, approximately 55 young artists were busy in decorating 24 of the local shops with unique Halloween designs. They were students from the 6th through 9th grades.

The judges from the Chamber of Commerce who sponsor this annual event, Joyce Steele, Judy Webb, and Marguerite Bowman, again found it difficult to pick the winners, as everyone did an excellent job.

"Halloween in the year 3000" at Maxwell's captured a first place for Lisa Wisz, Emily Eyraud, and Nicole Harris, as did the "Witches with their Halloween Brew" at Frank's Fresh Fish, for Ben Moran and Ben Smith. These entries were in the 6-7th grade category. The "Cemetery Scene" at the post office won first place in the 8-9 grade group for Jennie Doezie and Kathleen Fisher.

Because of the close competition, the judges gave honorable mention to several of the young people: Greg Olah for his haunted house at Howie's; to Rhett and Lia Schlote for their historical "Happy Hallows" at Sanwa Bank; to Jon Eckstrom, Josh Chapman, and Erick Hoffman at Brown's Furniture for their "Hoppy" (kangaroo) Halloween design; to Ryan Conway, Keith O'Brien, and Ryan Hagen for their "Skateboard Halloween" at the Paper Palace; and to Naomi Grimes and Christina McKay for their timely (World Series) Halloween window at Happy Jack's Video.

CLEAN SUMMER THINGS NOW

By Joe Delgatto

It's just plain cussadness — "human nature," if you want to call it that — but most of us are careless when it comes to cealning our clothes after we're through wearing them for a season.

Now is the time to clean them. They should, of course, have been cleaned and wrapped to protect them during storage. Then they'd be ready to wear and less deteriorated too.

And when it comes to cleaning of last season's clothes, we recommend you bring them to us. Tell us that they haven't been cleaned for a while. That way, we'll take all the possible corrective steps to put them back in good shape.

If the items can be washed and you want to do them yourself — these suggestions will be helpful to you:

1. Measure them carefully.
2. Remove buttons or other trims that washing may harm.
3. Soak in soft, cool water.
4. Wash by hand using mild soap which will lather well in water not more than 100°F.
5. Rinse in clean, soft water five or six times to remove all soap.
6. Gently squeeze out excess water and stretch to correct dimensions and allow to dry.
7. Press carefully and the item is ready to wear.

Any way you look at it, it's a lot of work, isn't it? So why not avoid all that? Just

Martha Van De Verg, Dr. Adams, Lucile Flanders

Adams reviews propositions

Dr. Gary Adams gave a rundown at Essick House last Wednesday of all the 1986 ballot propositions that voters will face in next Tuesday's election. Adams was introduced by Martha Van De Verg, legislative chairman of Sierra Madre Woman's Club, sponsors of the lecture.

Proposition 53, the State School Building Lease-Purchase Bond Law, would authorize the sale of $800 million in general obligation bonds to construct, reconstruct or modernize elementary and secondary schools. At least $400 million would be used to construct new schools; no more than $360 million could be used to repair or modernize existing facilities. Up to $40 million might also be spent on air condition equipment and insulation.

Proposition 54, the New Prison Construction Bond Act, would authorize the state to sell $500 million in general obligation bonds to finance construction of youth and adult prisons. If approved, $14 million would be spent on youth facilities, allowing the governor and Legislature to allocate the rest on options to buy land, construct or remodel buildings or maintain existing adult facilities.

Proposition 55, the California Safe Drinking Water Bond Law of 1986, allows the state to sell $100 million worth of general obligation bonds to provide loans and grants for local water systems. Money would be used for constructing, improving or rehabilitating water systems. As with most bonds, the state could back its borrowed money primarily by sales taxes and with personal and corporate income taxes, and can anticipate a loss of tax revenue as otherwise taxable income is sheltered by the bond.

Proposition 56, Higher Education Facilities Bond Act of 1986, would authorize the state to sell $400 million worth of general obligation bonds over the next two years to improve California's public higher education system. The money would be divided between land acquisition and buildings to provide new facilities, renovate existing buildings, buy new equipment and make short-term loans to community colleges.

Proposition 57, Retirement Benefits, constitutional amendment, eliminates the connection between future increases in the salaries of the persons serving in the 11 state offices and the retirement benefits of those officials who took office prior to Oct. 7, 1974. Therefore, beginning Nov. 5, 1986, these retired officials would receive only one adjustment — an annual cost-of-living increase — saving the state about $400,000 per year.

Adams explains that this affects only a few state-wide officials. It would double and sometimes triple what some of those officials are drawing now. Voting "no" means no change.

Proposition 58, Taxation, Family Transfers, constitutional amendment, would broaden circumstances under which the transfer of real property between spouses and between parents and children would be exempt from reassessment. In addition, the measure would place the existing statutory treatment of property transfers between spouses into the state Constitution. Prop 57 would cost local governments and school and community college districts about $28 million during the next two years, $60 million in 1988-89 in lost property tax revenues.

12 GREAT REASONS TO RE-ELECT OUR GOVERNOR !

1 Balanced Budgets and Fiscal Stability
Governor Deukmejian eliminated the $1.5 billion deficit, balanced the budget four times and established a prudent reserve for emergencies.

2 No General Tax Increase
Duke has prevented any general tax increase on the people or businesses of this state.

3 Economic Recovery and Jobs
Unemployment has been cut nearly in half and more than 1,700,000 new jobs have been created in California since Governor Deukmejian took office. Our state now leads the nation in major new business expansions.

4 Educational Excellence
Education is Governor Deukmejian's highest budget priority. As a result of major funding increases at all levels — more than $13 billion in new money since 1982 — and a sweeping school reform program signed into law by the Governor, our schools are getting better.

5 Commitment to Public Safety
Governor Deukmejian has continued his career-long commitment to making this state a safer place by supporting measures to toughen criminal penalties, fight back against drug pushers, aid the innocent victims of crime and increase state law enforcement personnel. And Duke wrote our death penalty law.

6 New Judges
Governor Deukmejian has appointed nearly 400 judges who believe in common sense justice — judges who are as concerned about the rights of the victims of crimes as they are about the rights of the accused.

7 New Priorities
Governor Deukmejian has shifted the priorities of our state government from welfare and bureaucracy, towards better education, jobs, public safety, and a common sense government.

8 Prison Expansion
The first major prison expansion program in more than twenty years has been launched. Already, two new prisons have been opened and nine more prisons are underway.

9 Open and Honest Government
Governor Deukmejian has appointed more women and minorities to top level posts in state government in a single term than any Governor in history, reflecting his commitment to a government that reflects the talent and diversity of the state.

10 Environmental Protection
Governor Deukmejian has enforced California's tough pollution laws, supported the protection of endangered species, saved environmentally sensitive land at Lake Tahoe and negotiated for fair and protective offshore oil development policy.

11 Toxic Cleanup
Governor Deukmejian has given California its most effective and aggressive toxic cleanup and enforcement program in history. He increased the budget for toxics cleanup by 150%. More than a hundred sites have been cleaned up and millions of dollars in fines have been levied.

12 Mandatory Workfare
A landmark workfare program has been signed by Governor Deukmejian which will require welfare recipients to work or receive training in exchange for their benefits.

Ruiz's Shoes

By Joan Reichardt

Back on North Baldwin, we find Ruiz's Shoe Repair Shop at 53 N. Baldwin Avenue. The owner has been in America for four years and has owned this shoe repair shop for two years.

Levon Kaladjian, owner, learned his trade from his father, who was a shoemaker in Armenia for 55 years. Levon was born in Armenia, of Armenian and Russian parents. In fact, his 13-year-old son is going now to visit his great-grandmother in Russia for one month. Levon's English is always improving, but the family only speaks Armenian at home.

Levon is married and lives in Hollywood. He and his wife have two daughters and one son. Levon's parents live with them also.

Levon can fix "everything shoes." He can also fix purses, sew leather and dye leather and fabric shoes and purses. He suggests that you bring a sample of fabric for color matching if you want successful results. He has 64 colors for leather dyeing and 225 colors for dyeing fabric shoes and bags.

In the shop, he also sells shoelaces, innersoles, dyes for your own dyeing in a range of colors and socks with the Playboy emblem on them.

A new heel at Ruiz's costs $3.50 for women's shoes and $6.50 or $7.50 for men's. A full resoling costs $10 and up and dyeing starts at $12.

Ruiz's is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

PCC to sponsor memorial drive

Pasadena City College will sponsor a memorial blood drive Thursday, Oct. 29, and Friday, Oct. 30, in memory of PCC students Shawn Montgomery and Trevon Johnston, who both died as a result of an automobile accident on Labor Day weekend.

William H. Sandstrom, athletic director and head coach of the Lancer football team, has enlisted team members to recruit and donate blood.

Residents of the community are invited to participate anytime during the two days between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. in the campus Center Lounge at PCC.

Appointments are not necessary, but are certainly helpful. Please contact Connie Hurston at (818) 578-7384.

Local school is vandalized

Reported by Jeff Miedema

Students and faculty returned to school Tuesday to find that Sierra Madre School had been vandalized sometime Monday afternoon or evening.

Doors, walls and play equipment were defaced with a black shoe polish of paint and costs to repair the damage will probably reach into the hundreds of dollars.

In all, 20 separate areas of the west and north campus were defaced with a gang-type of graffiti.

A local police officer stated that graffiti of this type has been appearing in the area due to a group of youths forming a gang. The officer further explained that the markings "IxPx 13" stands for the individuals' initials and that the number 13 means that they use marijuana in their group. Other repetitious words appear as gang member names, such as "Snoopy Boop," "Joker," along with racial slurs of "White Power," indicating it is a white gang.

In the past, a group of teenaged youths using the school's patio area as a meeting place after school would write similar forms of graffiti on the lunch benches and tables, but only recently have major forms of destruction to school property begun to appear. Posters have been burned off doors, beer bottles broken on the play area, and plaster walls and storage areas broken into with equipment thrown around the field or stolen.

Shollenberger-Knapp wedding September 6

Diane Shollenberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Shollenberger of Sierra Madre, and Kurt Knapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Knapp of Rosemead, were married Sept. 6 at 11:30 a.m. at Sierra Madre Congregational Church. Pastor Richard Anderson performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with red, grey and white flowers.

The bride chose a white, full-length gown and wore a veil with flowers imprinted on it. The train of the dress was fashioned with several rows of lace and hung from a satin bodice. She carried white and red carnations and roses trimmed in red tulle.

Stasi Eldredge of Monrovia was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Emmy Stroud, Monterey Park; Brenda Luvisi, Pasadena; Missy Heidsman, Sierra Madre; Virginia Van Fosen of Arcadia; and Janet Maljanian of Temple City. They wore red, old-fashioned, full-length gowns.

Ringbearer was Billy Knapp, brother of the groom. Flower girl was Renee Marie Duplain, godchild of the bride's mother.

Best man was Dave Trudeau of San Gabriel. Ushers included Bruce Willis, El Monte, Kevin Van Fosen, Arcadia, Johnny Nodar, Rosemead and Chris Florez, San Gabriel.

The bride's mother chose a gown of delicate raschel lace over satin with a gray cummerbund. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray gown with a gathered bodice decorated with a fashion pin. They both had corsages of red, white and gray carnations tied with red tulle bows.

A reception for 250 was held in Alhambra. Lisa V. Boore had charge of the guest book.

The bride graduated in 1984 from Arcadia High School and sang in the "New Spirit" singing group. The bridegroom is a 1980 graduate of San Gabriel High School.

The newlyweds took a trip up the coast and are at home in Monrovia.

Homeowners' association got off ground Wednesday

The infant homeowners' association took its first tentative steps in Sierra Madre Monday evening when it embarked on establishing a steering committee. Particular interest was shown in the possible establishment of an association by the full house of Sierra Madre citizens in the senior citizen park house that evening.

Volunteers for the steering committee were to meet last evening, Wednesday, at Foster and Margaret Buckner's home at 115 N. Canon at 7:30 p.m. Results of that meeting will appear in next week's edition of The News.

Members who volunteered to work on the steering committee include the following: Phyllis Bennet, Ellen Nolan, Adrienne T. Schnaider, Gary and Kathy Hood, Bev and Art Artinian, Sandra Kelly, Joy Phillips, William Schmidt, Jerry Adkins, Alice Feeney, Lee Cline, Anele Diaz, Foster Buckner, and Abe and Kerry Lynn Isras and Karl and Ruth Teigler.

The group plans to establish a board of directors and bylaws after the steering committee has determined the actual thrust of the organization.

Buckner said, "We had hoped City Attorney Charles Martin would be here tonight. He offered to come but at the last minute he was advised he could not attend. He was coming as a volunteer."

The crowd suggested goals of the group such as zoning changes, dealing with nuisances, someone to monitor Planning commission and city Council meetings, "zoning and hacking up neighborhoods," "maintaining Sierra madre 'as is,' " striving to bring older buildings to code, dealing with illegal additions, illegal rentals, absentee landlords, limiting density of new construction, conforming architecture.

Others were worried about increased traffic, both in the downtown area and in the areas where large condominiums are being built. Someone asked who would pay for the extra water that is being used by the increased population in the condos? Still others questioned the parking problems not only in downtown Sierra Madre, but also the residential streets.

After the laundry list of complaints was mouthed, Art Artinian said, "Let's pick out the most important ones and get rid of the chaff. I'd like to see this group not a bunch of complainers or gadflies. I'd like to caution you to make a shopping list of gripes, then let's get the job done.

"Collectively we can do something that singularly we can't do. There's strength in coming together. The city government is cooperative. They want to do a good job. They need our support, our participation and help."

Stan Hutchinson, chairman of the Planning Commission, reminded participants that there is an established general plan which went into effect in 1959 and was modified in 1972.

"Only R-3 zones can receive the kind of construction (you're talking about). If a developer requests construction in an R-3 zone neither the City Council nor the Planning Commission can turn him down. Only 20% of the R-3 has been utilized (in Sierra Madre). We have hearings coming up on the enforcement of zoning and more stringent R-3 codes . . . The laws are in place. We're responsible. You have to start with the law."

Alternatives in dealing with water problems

This is the last in a series of up-dated articles for Sierra Madre voters providing information on the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District which will have two candidates for the office of Member, Board of Directors, Division 4 (our Sierra Madre representative) on the November ballot.

The two candidates are Bernard P. Westkamper, incumbent and former Sierra Madre Director of Public Works, and Ralph R. Rule, member of the Sierra Madre city council for 12 years and Sierra Madre mayor three times.

Sierra Madre belongs to an independent four-city water district, to which Sierra Madre property owners pay taxes far higher than do residents of neighboring cities which belong to the Metropolitan Water District.

Charlie Martin is our city attorney now and was our city attorney in 1957, when the four-city district was formed. He describes himself as a "reluctant bride" in the affair. it was formed, he says, by a negative group opposed to MWD, the so-called giant octopus.

The district's founders, he said, had a near-phobia about "drinking or spreading MWD water" which, at that time, was solely comprised of Colorado River water.

He expressed the opinion that negative groups usually turn out to be more expensive and have more problems than those who seek to find cooperative means of solving their differences.

Myron Johnson, a director of the district for over 16 years, has become particularly concerned with the pollution of the San Gabriel Basin, where the district spreads its water. He states that it is being poisoned by both cities and industry in the area and is fighting to get the district to process all of its state Feather River water above ground, where it would not be polluted by percolating into a "contaminated" basin.

This would entail construction of a treatment plant — another considerable expense to the district and its taxpayers.

Sierra Madre pumps from the East Raymond Basin, which is not polluted, and Johnson's concern raises yet another question: would we want to polute our "second-best water in the world" with supplemental water from a "poisoned" basin?

If Johnson's solution were adopted, pipelines would have to be constructed from the district's treatment plant to serve Sierra Madre and the other three cities, adding still more considerable expense.

Prescott Lieberg, chairman of the district's board of directors, sees a tremendous advantage in being a part of a small, independent district because "we have local control and a guaranteed source of good water."

Being the proven stepchild, however, would seem to refute the advantage to Sierra Madre of "local control." After 29 years of promises and no action, having one vote in five would appear to be not all that different from having one vote in 130, as we would as a member of MWD. And, if Director Johnson is correct, the "guaranteed source of good water" would become poisoned as soon as it percolated into the San Gabriel Basin, from whence Sierra Madre would transport it to our unpolluted East Raymond Basin.

If we ever do run out of water, no doubt we'll all be glad to take anything that isn't lethally laced with arsenic, but those Colorado River salts running under Grandview look more and more palatable, as both pollutants and astronomical costs are weighed in the balance.

In the meantime, we are locked into our small, expensive district and continue to pay dearly for promises.

What can we do?

Given all the facts, our solution would appear to lie in one of two alternatives: 1) demand that the district make another "trade" with MWD which would guarantee Sierra Madre the right to take water from the Grandview pipeline, if ever needed, or 2) push the district board toward applying for membership in MWD, which would afford us the same right.

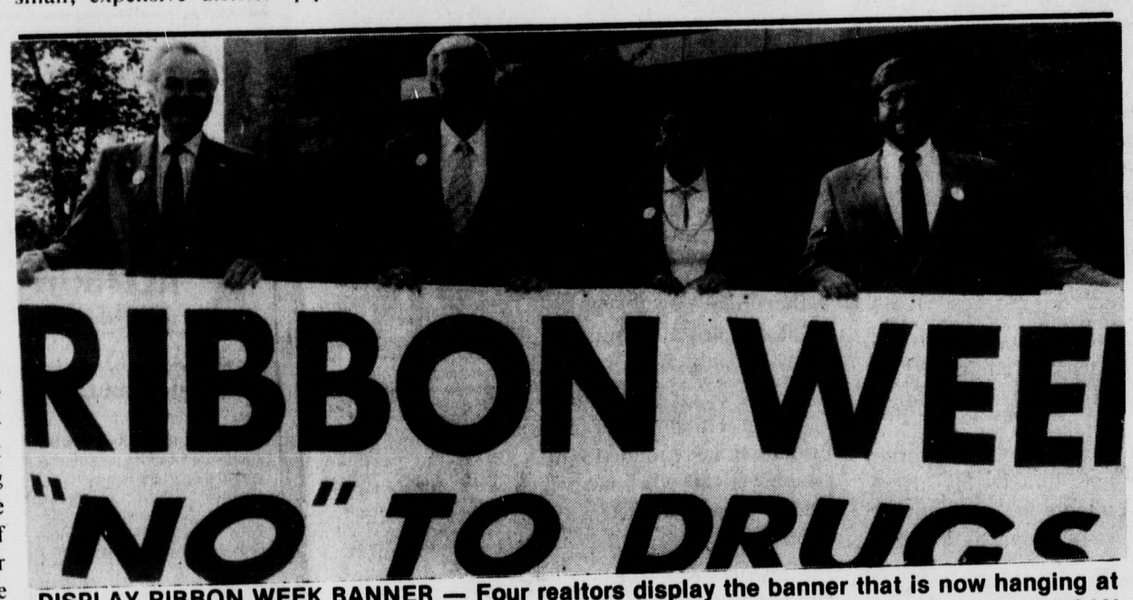

Discussions have taken place among the directors on this second subject and perhaps the time is right for a "squeaky wheel" approach.

These are some of the reasons why Sierra Madre voters should not neglect to vote for our Member, Board of Directors, Division 4, San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District, on Nov. 4. Vote for the candidate you believe will fight for the rights we have paid for over so many years and, until now, been denied.

— J.M.

Proposition 59, Elected District Attorney, would require the office of the district attorney to be filled by election in all counties. Although all district attorneys in the state's 58 counties are currently elected to office, a state statutory law still on the books allows voters to make the office appointive.

Proposition 60, Taxation, Replacement Residences, a constitutional amendment, would authorize the Legislature to allow homeowners over the age of 55 to transfer the assessed value of their present home to a replacement home if all these conditions are met: the new home is used as the person's principal residence; of equal or lesser value than the original; located within the same county as the old; and purchased or built within two years of the sale of the old property.

Proposition 61, Public Official, Employee, Contractor Compensation is the first initiative to qualify for the November ballot. It is a Paul Gann-sponsored constitutional amendment that would overhaul laws governing compensation for elected and appointed officials as well as laws dealing with public contracting. Proposition 61 would set the governor's salary at $80,000 and those of all other constitution officer at $52,500. It would ban the accumulation of sick leave and vacation time over succeeding years.

State and local governments would probably save about $250 million. There is also a chance that state and local governments would face a one-time payout of nearly $7 billion to compensate employees for vacation and sick leave time earned.

Proposition 62, Taxation, Local Governments and Districts, is the late Howard Jarvis' swan song to initiative lawmaking. It is meant to limit the power of local governments to levy taxes. This needs a two-thirds vote to pass.

Proposition 63, Official State Language, sponsors argue that it recognizes in law what has long been social and political reality. Proponents say that language is one element that binds a culture together, allowing diverse peoples to understand and respect each other. They also argue that the measure would save the state money in bilingual translation and printing costs.

Proposition 64, Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), led by Khushro Ghandi, representing the LaRouche-led National Democratic Policy Committee, argue that AIDS is presently out of control. Proponents maintain that the disease may be transmitted through casual contact and that the AIDS virus is contagious and communicable. This would bring AIDS and AIDS carriers under laws and regulations which currently regular other communicable diseases. It could result in expanded testing programs, imposing isolation or quarantines. It would cost $1.2 billion to test 13 million Californians.

Proposition 65, Exposure Restrictions, proposes two additional requirements for businesses with 10 or more employees. It prohibits businesses from knowingly releasing cancer-causing chemicals or more than a fractional amount of other toxic materials into a source of drinking water. Fines would be increased for offenders and civil penalties imposed. The measure would allow the state and local governments to sue those who broke the law.

Police Blotter

Sierra Madre Police Dept. answered 124 service calls the past week. Among those calls are the following:

— Oct. 21: Cause of a noninjury traffic collision at Mountain Trail and Highland was a boulevard stop violation.

— Oct. 22: There was a child neglect case of a 5-mo.-old infant in the 800 block of Woodland. The child was improperly attended, according to the police report.

— Oct. 23: A vehicle was recovered after it was reported stolen in the 200 block of W. Grandview. The auto was recovered in Pasadena following a traffic collision.

— Oct. 24: Unsafe left turn was the cause of the noninjury traffic collision at Sunnyside and Sierra Madre Blvd.

— Oct. 25: Vehicle windows were broken in the 600 block of W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

— Oct. 26: No crimes reported.

— Oct. 27: Vehicle windows were broken while the auto was parked in the public parking lot in the 100 block of W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Stereo and tools worth $320 were stolen from a vehicle in the 200 block of Foothill. An auto was struck with a tree limb at Orange Grove and Sunnyside.

Chief Bill Betts told The News, "We have a rash of windows being broken, both in homes and vehicles. It's time some parents note where their young people are. Persons hearing a crash outside their homes should immediately take action, including calling the police dept. While these may sound like minor crimes, maliciousness by young people can be costly to victims.

"We have another situation reoccurring in the community and that is the increase in skateboards. Skateboarding in the central business district is illegal. Officers will be picking up skateboards and bringing them to the police department."

Scoutmaster of Troop 373, Charles Carpenter, and Asst. Scoutmaster Rudy Schindler.

During the four years Pat was a Boy Scout, he earned the required 21 merit badges and completed a community service project.

Over 100 guests were present at the ceremony to honor Sierra Madre's most recent Eagle Scout recipient. The evening's event was opened with the invocation being given by Rev. Msgr. Robert Gara, pastor of St. Rita's Church. Among guests were Congressman Carlos Moorhead, who presented Pat the American flag which had been flown over the United States capital; and Sierra Madre Mayor Lisa Fowler, who presented a city proclamation honoring Pat's achievements.

Other proclamations and letters of congratulations were sent by the President of the United States, Ronald Reagan, Senator Alan Cranston, Senator Pete Wilson, Assemblyman Pat Nolan and County Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich.

A buffet dinner, prepared by the mothers of Troop 373, followed the ceremony. Piano music complimenting the evening celebration was played by Mrs. Joseph Banis and Kraig Pakulski.

The award was instituted in 1982 in the memory of Lord who died in 1981. He was an active chamber member. He was founder and president of Lordel Manufacturing, now owned by Exxon Corporation.

The award is given to a person whose dedication to the chamber is "over and above the call of duty in committee service, leadership, board involvement, cooperative spirit, community service, creativeness of leadership and devotion to the chamber."

Recipients include Ed Sanborn, John Bright, Jack Reitzell, Sandy Young and Fred Bowden.

Secret ballots should be turned in immediately to the Monrovia Chamber of Commerce, 620 S. Myrtle Ave., Monrovia, 91016.

Check the date of the installation party — Saturday, Jan. 10, at the Embassy Suites in Arcadia.

Awards to be given for centennial activities

On Nov. 12, Monrovia's Centennial Committee will present the fourth set of awards honoring individuals who have contributed significantly to the city of Monrovia over the past century. This set will focus on those whose contribution has been in the field of health care.

Awards will be presented to: Mother Margarita Maria, O.C.D. of Santa Teresita Hospital; James Bowers, D.D.S.; Edward Hayes, Sr. M.D., and to the Pottenger family for the works of the late physicians Francis Pottenger and his son, Francis Jr.

Special recognition will also be extended to Barbara Coleman, founder, with Norman Cousins of "We Can Do."

Awardees are chosen by a committee using the following criteria:

1. Their contribution had to have far-reaching implications for citizens' health on a permanent basis or have acted as a catalyst for good health.

2. Their contributions were overwhelmingly recognized by the community as enriching or enhancing the lives of citizens.

3. The contribution undeniably enabled or influenced, in a positive manner, the work of other individuals or existing programs in Monrovia.

4. The activity was on a state or national level and brought honor to Monrovia.

The awards will be presented at a reception to be held at the Holiday Inn in Monrovia. Dr. Sanford Shapero, chief executive officer for the City of Hope, will be the featured speaker.

The buffet reception is open to the public. Cost is $6.50 per person and reservations must be made by Nov. 10. Further information can be obtained by calling the Monrovia Centennial office at 358-3797.

Programs at park

Monrovia Canyon Park November programs include the following:

Nov. 1, 10-11 a.m., 3-5 year-olds — "Caterpillars," children will hear an animal story and make a caterpillar.

Nov. 8, 10-11 a.m., 6-10 year-olds — "Trail Learning," a walk to learn about local trees and plants of Canyon Park.

Nov. 15, 10-11 a.m., 6-10-year olds — "Bird Feeders," bring a one-gallon milk jug to make a feeder for the winter birds.

Monrovia is up for 'excellence' award

The city of Monrovia is now in the running for the prestigious League of California Cities Helen Putnam Award for Excellence. In addition to the overall Award for Excellence, cities will receive awards for excellence in five different categories.

Monrovia's ongoing centennial celebration project is cited in the community services category. The project includes construction of a museum, fund-raisers and free events to enhance community spirit and city beautification projects. The project was planned and implemented by a volunteer committee.

The awards will recognize achievement in managing resources to carry out public policy in a progressive, timely and cost-effective manner in the areas of public safety services, community services, community development, public works and transportation and government administration.

This year's awards will be based on the innovative or progressive nature of the programs, the community or citizen involvement in the planning or initiation of the programs, and how well they improve the delivery of services or result in cost savings to the cities.

The top three finalists in each category will be chosen by people familiar with local government, such as representatives from the League of Women Voters, the California Taxpayers Association, the academic community and the California Newspaper Publisher's Association.

Representatives from each of the 13 regional league divisions will select the award recipient in each of the five categories. One of the five cities will also be recognized as the overall winner of the Award for Excellence.

How do you spell 'neighborhood'?

By Lyn Carter

I looked up the word "neighborhood" in the dictionary today. I was going to begin this column with the definition. I was surprised at what I found.

First, the definitions given all related to the proximity of the houses, such as "the people living near one." What do you think of when you think of a neighborhood? What the word conjures up in my mind has very little to do with location. I see children playing and people exchanging advice and help when necessary. I see, in fact, my neighborhood.

Because this little scenario of mine had to do with people and not location, and because I am possessed by a spirit that makes words and therefore, dicitionaries are very interesting to me, I looked up "neighborliness," and was informed by my hard-bound buddy that this was a rare state. I don't think the people in my neighborhood, or I would venture to guess, the people in many of the neighborhoods in these small towns we live in, know that. It is very apparent to me that my dictionary has never visited neighborhoods in the foothill communities.

Let me give you an example. As you all probably know, I gave birth to my third child on Sept. 8. Well, not to bore all of you with the unimportant details, I was in a very early stage of labor for about 24 hours. Nothing terribly painful, but I was aware of the contractions.

We had a neighborhood swim party while this was going on (Do groups of neighbors in city apartments have swim parties? Do groups of neighbors in city apartments even know each other's names?). I saw no reason not to participate. All the timing and writing down of contractions was getting to be pretty boring. So, my family hiked across the street with all our paraphernalia and proceeded to enjoy the company of some 10 or so children and as many adults.

Have you ever known of a neighborhood birth? Well, the story loses a bit in the translation. You really had to be there, but suffice it to say that everyone within a two-block radius of my house got in on the act. When a contraction would come, everyone would cheer and my husband, who was not at all bored with the timing, would write down the time and the duration of the contraction. We don't need events like the World Series around here to get involved. Life is a grand sport.

Children came to feel my tummy. What mother is going to miss a first-hand lesson in birth? I tell you, I had every mommy kitty in town beaten when it comes to an audience.

When we did finally go to the hospital, we beeped our horn all the way down the street and people charged out to their front porches to wave and shout "good luck." I must admit, I have never seen Neighborhood Watch operate quite this way.

I don't think you need to have a baby to truly enjoy your neighborhood. All you need is a hearty smile and a cheerful "Hi" and you are on your way. Perhaps, people think all this went out with the '50s and "Leave it to Beaver," but they are missing out.

Just like my dictionary, they may think that neighborliness is rare. If it is, we have an endangered species in our foothill neighborhoods. I think we all have a stake in preserving it.

Decker given award

Former Monrovia City Councilmember Ron Decker has been given the Outstanding Community Service Award by Citizens for Community Improvement. The award is presented annually to the person who has made a significant contribution to local community improvement.

The award was presented to Decker by Assemblyman Richard Mountjoy at his office in Arcadia.

Decker is a designer and coordinator of "Blow the Whistle on Crime," a project named the Outstanding Criminal Justice Program for the state of California. That program has resulted in the prevention of a variety of crimes in Monrovia and other San Gabriel Valley cities.

While serving on the city council, he was a strong supporter of the construction of Monrovia's first community center and the reconstruction and remodeling of the Myrtle Ave. business district. He supported development of the successful Huntington Oaks Shopping Center on Huntington Dr. that is bringing in much needed sales tax revenue and has been credited with establishing the "We Tip" crime-fighting program in Monrovia. The results of that program include numerous arrests for possession and sale of illegal drugs.

He has served two terms as Commander of the Monrovia American Legion and has been credited with recruiting 26 new members for that organization in the past 18 months. He has also served two terms as chairman of L.A. County's Foothill Health District Advisory Council which is headquartered in Monrovia.

Big fire destroys Monrovia business

Eight fire engines were called to control a fire that broke out at the Monrovia Italian Delicatessen on Friday night, Oct. 17. There were no customers in the business, located at 507 So. Myrtle in Monrovia at the time of the fire. A manager who was inside the restaurant at the time, made the call to the fire department but remained unhurt.

Eight fire engines responded to the call. Fire companies from Arcadia, El Monte, Sierra Madre and Los Angeles were called to the scene because the blaze was believed to threaten other commercial buildings in Monrovia's business district.

The fire raged for two hours before being brought under control. The extent of damage to neighboring establishments, as well as the cause of the fire are as yet unknown.

Boosters schedule exciting fund-raiser

A 1987 Buick Skyhawk, two round-trip coach flights from Los Angeles to Honolulu, and a portable, color television set are the featured prizes in the annual drawing sponsored by the Arcadia High School Athletic Booster Club.

Christ McGuire, Booster president, announces that the winner of the car need not be present for the drawing to be held during halftime of the final, regular home game of the season at Arcadia High School on Friday, Nov. 17. However, in order to win the airline tickets, which are being donated by Arcadia Depot Travel Center and Leisure Resorts, and the television, winners must be present for the drawing.

Drawing tickets are being sold for $2 by Arcadia High athletes, pep squad and members of the Booster board.

The drawing is the primary fund-raising event for the Boosters which has provided many items for the athletic programs at Arcadia High. Most recent purchases have included video recording and camera equipment available for all athletic events and the new scoreboard for the football field.

Area youth honors

Local speedsters receiving recognition at last weekend's Mt. SAC Cross Country Invitational were Dan Kabala of Arcadia and Dave Wester of Maranatha.

Kabala, clocked at 16:36, captured fourth place in a race that saw other valley runners: Julian Cuevas of San Gabriel, Mike Deitch of Arroyo and Armand Sanchez of San Gabriel.

Wester ran the area's fastest time on Friday when he claimed third place at 16:13.

Led by Janice Wester's third-place finish, the girl's team from Maranatha captured first-place honors. That team also included Miriam Cordero.

In other sports news, Maranatha Minutemen faced defeat 7-0, when they met the defending Alpha League champions, Montclair Prep, at Pierce Junior College in Woodland Hills on Friday night.

Timothy Brown is new principal

A new principal for Arcadia's Hugo Reid Elementary School was named last week by the Board of Education.

Timothy Brown was most recently an instructional advisor with the Los Angeles Unified School District where he provided inservice training and coordinated budget/school level plan sessions for 43 schools and he disseminated information on federal, state and district guidelines for categorical programs to administrators and coordinators.

He also designed a special "student-to-student" interaction program for children at Markham Intermediate School and South Gate Junior High School to promote positive self concepts, interaction and communication skills in a non-threatening camp setting.

Brown, who received his Bachelor of Arts degree in liberal studies from California State University, Dominguez Hills and his masters from California State University, Los Angeles, has served as camp and conference director of the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD).

His professional affiliations include membership in Phi Kappa Phi (honor society), Association of California School Administrators, Parent-Teachers Association and Educational Administrative Alumni Association of California State University, Los Angeles.

Services include eye, ear and dental testing and care as well as psychologial help and academic tutoring, according to Phyllis Parker, executive director.

Salter named 'Teacher of Year'

Dick Salter, head football coach and athletic director at Arcadia High School, has been named Teacher of the Year in Arcadia and nominated for the 1987 California Teacher of the Year Award.

Salter has 35 years of teaching experience, 18 of which have been at Arcadia High.

The most important factors in Salter's nomination are that he (1) is highly respected by students, parents, fellow teachers, administrators and CIF personnel throughout Southern California; (2) consistently demonstrates a sincere interest in the personal, social, academic and physical development of his students and players; (3) provides a positive learning environment for both his classes and teams; and (4) serves as an excellent role model for the young people under his supervision.

Salter, his wife Nancy and their five grown children, are all educators, evidence of his feeling that "teaching is the greatest profession in the world."

Decathlon scholars prepare

Arcadia High School's Academic Decathlon team is preparing for Nov. 15 competition at West High School in Torrance, according to Luci Berger, high school counselor and team coordinator.

Team participants include James Evans, Sharon Garlough, Mark Greenstone, Jennifer Ho, Stephanie Inbody, Dena Johnson, Bob Sego, Vicky Silcox and Christina Vega.

The academic decathlon, like its ancient Greek counterpart, is a 10-event contest. Unlike the decathlon of today's Olympic Games, however, it is an intellectual, rather than an athletic competition.

An academic decathlon team is composed of six members, representing three competition levels with an alternate in each category. By its inclusion of the average, as well as the excellent student, the contest provides incentives for all students to become interested in intellectual activities. It invites all to realize the potential of their ability and opens the doors to achievement for amny who might otherwise be excluded, adds Berger.

Competition takes place during one grueling, but stimulating day. Six of the 10 events are written examinations testing the fields of English literature and language, mathematics, science, social science, economics and fine arts. Three other events are demonstrations of oral and written communications skills: conversation skills, essay writing and speech. The last event, "Super Quiz," is a fast-moving team relay test of general knowledge which places the participants in front of an audience which observes and cheers them on as their scores are posted after each question.

The study sessions for the team are being coached and developed by Arcadia High teachers including Pauline High, English literature and language; Beatrice Naira, math; Ron Morris and Mitch Hayden, social studies and economics; Karen Giles, fine arts; Dennis Davies, music; Lennis Bartlet, science; and Fred Peritore, speech.

The Academic Decathlon team is sponsored by the Civitan Club of Arcadia, which helped pay the entrance fee and buy uniforms for the team members.

MAYOR MAKES PRESENTATION — Mayor Mary Young of Arcadia presents document proclaiming Arcadia Educational Foundation Week to Tom Romano, organization's president.

Arcadia Educational Week proclaimed by Mayor Young

In recognition of the organization's positive impact on Arcadia's schools, Mayor Mary Young proclaimed last week as Arcadia Educational Foundation week.

This proclamation kicked off the annual fund-raising drive which, according to Tom Romano, foundation president, aims to raise between $75,000 and $100,000.

One quarter of a million dollars has been donated to the Arcadia Unified School District by the foundation since 1981 when the organization was founded by a group of concerned citizens who recognized the importance of education in the community and who realized that the school district is hindered in its ability to raise supplemental funds.

Funds are raised primarily through mail solicitation; and this week, students on Arcadia High School's executive council will conduct a phone-a-thon promoting support for the foundation.

Any contribution is appreciated, according to Dennis Dyke, foundation treasurer, who points out that the most popular form of giving is membership in the "99 Club" which is achieved through a $99 donation. Checks may be mailed to the Arcadia Educational Foundation, P.O. Box 174, Arcadia. For more informtion, phone 359-5612.

Arcadia school receives state award

An Outstanding Achievement Award for Arcadia High School was accepted by principal Jerry Barshay at Monday night's meeting of the Arcadia Board of Education.

Presenting the award was Dr. Marvin R. Matthews, consultant for organization and management services for Los Angeles County Office of Education.

'Red Ribbon Week' for drug-free community

"See Red, Say No" is the message of the California Red Ribbon week, Oct. 27 - Nov. 3, sponsored throughout the state by California For Drug-Free Youth, Inc. and the California Department of Alcohol and Drugs Programs.

At Arcadia High School, student leaders and athletes demonstrated their support of a drug-free environment when they agreed to a pilot program of voluntary chemical abuse testing, stated Lisa Hudson, student body president, and Brad Scott, varsity quarterback.

'SEE RED, SAY NO' — Arcadia School Superintendent Stephen Goldstone congratulates Brad Scott, Arcadia High football team captain and quarterback, as Lisa Hudson, student body president, pins the red ribbon signifying support of the "See Red, Say No" campaign.

Bagels, bagels. The best in bagels

There's an exciting new place that has just opened by Gayle Hoover, formerly associated with CLIMB in Sierra Madre, and Judy Solis.

Do you like bagels? Is there anyone who does not like bagels?

Just imagine a delightful circular creation dripping with fresh garlic butter — or cheese and herb butter — or honey-nut butter spread. Just imagine a lox cream cheese spread — or an herb and chive cream cheese spread — or a pineapple spread.

Do I have time to whip over there for lunch? Of course.

But we haven't told you yet where you can get all of these wonderful fresh-made-daily bagels. They can be found "On the Green," at 961 E. Green St. in Pasadena. They take phone orders to expedite your picking them up if you're really having a bagel fit and you can call them at 584-1122.

They also have wonderful pasta salads and terrific homemade desserts.

Special education teacher, Gayle, and full-time homemaker for 18 years, Judy, decided it was that time in the San Gabriel Valley — it was time for a bagel shop. With no prior restaurant experience, they have turned the four bare walls of what was once an art gallery into one of the few take-out sandwich delis serving the fashionable Green St. antique district.

Remember the name: Bagels on the Green. Gayle Hoover and Judy Solis will make all your bagel eating dreams come true. Try them by stopping in at 961 E. Green St. or call first at 584-1122.

Coronation Ball set for Nov. 8

By Bill McCullagh

The invitations have been mailed. The music is ready to go. The food and beverages are being prepared for the annual Princesses Coronation Ball, being held this year, Saturday, Nov. 8, at the Sierra Madre Recreation Center (611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.) by the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association.

President Celeste McCreary will be announcing the names of the three women who will be selected to ride on the city of Sierra Madre's entry in the 1987 Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade on Jan. 1.

Many door prizes have been donated by the local merchants in their yearly support of this effort by the association on behalf of the city. Included with the mailed invitations are door prize tickets that can be purchased by persons wishing to support this fund-raising effort. Winners of prizes will also be recognized at the dance. Music for dancing will be from the 1950 era.

Persons not receiving invitations and desiring to attend should call 355-3231 to make their reservation.

Mother-son breakfast at La Salle

The La Salle Parents' Association will conduct their annual Mother-Son Communion Breakfast on Sunday morning, Nov. 2, at 10 a.m.

Mass will be celebrated in the courtyard of La Salle High School followed by breakfast in the school cafeteria. This event is for all mothers and sons of La Salle regardless of their church affiliation. There is no charge for breakfast; however, donations will be accepted.

Mothers are asked to call the school at 351-8951 to confirm their reservations, if they have not already returned their reservation forms to the school office.

Larson at museum

There is something so far out, so bizarre about nationally - syndicated cartoonist Gary Larson's view of science that it goes full circle to land right on the mark. In a special exhibition entitled "The Far Side of Science," visitors will be treated to Larson's fantastic view of things animal, vegetable and mineral that stretches the imagination to hilarious limits and teaches visitors about scientific principles in the bargain. This first show of Larson's work, designed and organized by California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, will be at the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County, Nov. 15, through Feb. 15, 1987.

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

There are times in the year when everybody seems to open a new production at once.

Most Seasonal: Valley Repertory Company with still another version of "Dracula," with music. This one reminds me strongly of college student shows in its rather unfocused wit. Most successful are the theatrical in-jokes, references to musicals in which, not only songs, but choreography have been deftly recreated. Then there are musical puns which seem to have been done with a heavier hand. "I don't care if the sun don't shine. I get my lovin' in the evening time," sings Dracula. You get the idea.

Some of it has the haphazard look of kids putting on a show and some of it is very polished, especially when Julie Holmes is being Lola or Maria or a punk rocker as well as the delicate Lucy. Also excellent, if revolting, is Jason Saris as Renfield.

"Dracula" plays Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 into November at the Music Hall, 120 E. Lemon Ave., Monrovia. For information call 357-4317.

Most professional: Broadway Playhouse's production of "How Green Was My Valley," Emlyn Williams' story of a strong-minded Englishwoman in Wales in the 1890s. Determined and independent, she devotes a small legacy to the education of illiterate Welsh children and finds among them a boy of potential genius. This is a gentle and humorous tale of a minor clash of cultures and a major adjustment of values and ambitions.

Gwenda Deacon makes a rather overwhelming Miss Moffat, and Bradford Askew is remarkably expressive as the boy who must leave much behind as he enters a new world. Joleen Lutz is top-notch in her transformation from bratty schoolgirl to confident floozy. Tina Bacon is forceful and lively as Miss Moffat's reformed maid. The actors have done a superb job of making English seem a second language as they chatter among themselves in, I suppose, Welsh. As usual with this group, direction, costuming and sets are impeccable and their home, right behind the San Gabriel Civic Auditorium, deserves to be filled every night.

The show runs on Fridays and Saturdays through Nov. 22. To get on their mailing list, try SGVPAC, Box 302, Monrovia, 916110. For reservations, it's 282-5462.

Closest and cutest: Pasadena High School's production of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," a very intimate little musical, full of chuckles and imagination. There are only two more performances of this lively tribute to Charlie Brown, every child, and his wife-foolish contemporaries. A big chorus is particularly effective in the elaborate slow-motion pantomime of "The Baseball Game." The leading roles, David Barnathan as Linus, Joel Hunter as Charlie Brown, Amy Blackshaw as Lucy, Tony Vayos as Schroeder, combine beautifully in the wonderful "Book Report," and Gennie Thompson, with lovely pigtails, is an eye-catching Patty.

Cassandra Renjetti is given credit for both stage and technical direction and Carolyn Shannon is not only musical director, but a highly competent "orchestra."

Take your children and your parents to see what can be accomplished with those often-maligned "teen-agers."

COSCARELLI, FRIENDS COOK BIRTHDAY DINNER — Noting the "birthday" of St. Paul of the Cross, founder at the Passionist movement, guests also noted the birthday of Ed Coscarelli, Sierra Madre, who assisted with cooking the dinner at the monastery that evening last week. Shown are Babette and Theresa Coscarelli, Marc Allen, Ed Coscarelli with Father Benedict Olson, rector of the monastery. The Coscarellis volunteered their labor.

Close race

How much does one vote count? It could be a lot. The narrowest recorded percentage win in an election would seem to be for the office of Southern District Highway Commissioner in Mississippi in 1979. The winner got 133,587 votes; the loser, 133,582; a difference of .0001%.

It's pumpkin time . . .

Weekend travelers have a treat in store via a loop trip up I-5 and return via Hwy. 101, with Santa Paula and Ojai as their destination — about a 180 mile round trip.

The route up I-5 is enlivened by a mule farm on the right, just short of Valencia, sporting magnificent specimens of these stubborn and rambunctious creatures and Magic Mountain, on the left, a short distance beyond.

The turn-off to our destination, Hwy. 126, leaves I-5, heading west just past Magic Mountain at Castaic Junction.

A lovely rural setting immediately surrounds the driver, with Chaparal and oak-studded hills on both sides and the Santa Suzanna Mountains beyond on the left. Ranches line the roadside which wanders through the Santa Clara River Valley.

Some 19 miles along the way is the turn off for Lake Piru recreation areas, four miles northward.

At Fillmore a turn off to the north, Goodenough Rd. will take you to the Sespe Condor Sanctuary.

Santa Paula, located alongside the river, is a charming, rustic town, enhanced by huge old oaks and sycamores. The maximum temperature here is listed as 75° and the winter low at 47°. It boasts a fog and smog-free climate year round.

The 100-year old train depot is well worth a visit. Lovingly restored by local effort, it houses the chamber of commerce, which happily furnishes reams of material on intriguing local sites and events and an art gallery featuring the work of local artists.

The old station seems to echo with ghosts of the exciting past when early oil discoveries brought the rich and famous flocking here, together with the glamorous folk involved in movie-making, for which the community was noted, like Sierra Madre, as a Hollywood forerunner.

The Glen Tavern Inn, built in 1911 to accommodate the noted beauties and beasties, offers quiet, but luxurious environs, complete with exquisite antiques and excellent cuisine.

Antique airplane buffs will find a treasure house at the Santa Paula airport, where many of these old flying machines have their home base. Fine old mansions, dating to the turn of the century, can be found on a tour of the residential area and the Oil Museum on Main Street (alas, closed for repairs when we visited) is one of only two of its kind and noted far and wide as a unique attraction.

Highway 150 to Ojai winds through more scenic country with 6200-ft. Mt. Topa Topa serving as a backdrop. Orange, lemon, avocado and walnut groves line the road and the aroma of orange blossoms in the sprintime is reminiscent of the old days in the San Gabriel Valley. Oil pumps lurk here and there amidst the greenery.

Ojai offers cool, shady arcaded shops and the Ojai Valley Historical Society Museum features both historical memorabilia and Chumash Indian artifacts.

It also offers access to the 516,000-acre wilderness of Los Padres National Forest with a number of excellent campgrounds and endless miles of hiking, riding, exploring and trout fishing.

Two noted hot springs are located a few miles to the north on Hwy. 33 for those addicted to soaking away their troubles: Matilija and Wheeler Hot Springs, the latter complete with a century old lodge.

This is horse country, boasting more horses per 100 population than any other community in America. Horses can be rented at the Chorro Grande Pack Station for anywhere from an hour to a week, or at the Ojai Valley Inn, which also offers luxurious accommodations and a beautiful setting just outside of downtown Ojai.

Return via Hwy. 33 southward to Hwy. 101 and thence eastward via Ventura, Oxnard, Camarillo and the San Fernando Valley.

— J.M.

Pickarts to speak Nov. 4 in Pasadena

Evelyn Pickarts, past president of the Pasadena Chapter of the United Nations Assn., will be featured speaker at the Nov. 4 luncheon meeting of the College Women's Club of Pasadena. Her topic will be "The U.N. — Nuclear Energy and Non-proliferation."

The purposes of the College Women's Club are to promote interest in, and donations to the Scholarship Foundation and to strengthen the fellowship of college women in the Pasadena area and to stimulate their continuous intellectual development.

Mueller represents California

Marc Mueller of Sierra Madre represented the California State Firemen's Association at the fall meeting of the National Volunteer Fire Council Board of Directors in Flint, Mich., Oct. 9-12.

The NVFC represents the nation's volunteer fire service, serving as its voice before Congress, other Federal Government agencies, and national fire-related organizations.

The Flint meeting provided an update on council activities to address a number of issues facing volunteers throughout the country, including proposed amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act and a proposed National Fire Protection standard covering a Fire Department Occupational Safety and Health Program (proposed standard 1500). Board members also discussed a new communications project to be carried out over the coming year. The Council has been awarded nearly $50,000 from the U.S. Fire Administration for the project to test and evaluate a system for transmitting critical protective information to the nation's volunteer firefighters.

Mueller has been a member of the NVFC Board of Directors for four years and serves on the council's long-range planning, bylaws and communications grant committees. He is a past chief of the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

Still no news on Roess store

The News tried unsuccessfully to reach David Roess for news of who will be taking over the grocery store at Sierra Madre Blvd. and Lima.

At press time this week, there was still no news available.

The Sierra Madre News has also been unsuccessful in reaching either the recording secretary or the chairman of the Planning Commission for a report of the latest Planning Commission meeting. Neither Mary Kay Gifford or Stan Hutchinson were available Tuesday after repeated phone calls to Gifford's home or Hutchinson's business or home.

Hopefully, The News will carry those stories in next week's edition. Ed.

Karen Sanladerer weds John D. McAlister

Karen L. Sanladerer became the bride of John D. McAlister on Aug. 23 at a double-ring, 6 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Loren and Barbara Sanladerer of Sierra Madre and the bridegroom's parents are Bob and Mary McAlister of Arcadia.

Dr. Charles Olsen performed the ceremony at Arcadia Presbyterian Church.

The bride chose an off-the-shoulder gown of white silk adorned on the sleeves, bodice, back and train with delicate alencon lace and hand beading. The sleeves were bordered at the shoulder with pearls. Scalloped lace accentuated the slightly dropped waist. The fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of pearls. She wore her grandmother's pearls and carried a cascading bouquet including roses, gardenias, lily of the valley, fresia, stephanotis and dendorobium. Tucked into the bouquet were two handkerchiefs made by Mary Tangairian of South Pasadena, one for the bride's mother for her wedding and one for the bride.

The bride's attendants included Kristin Sanladerer, sister of the bride. Others were Cynthia Baker, Laurie Bisi, Carol Channing, Cathy Gerbract and Ruth Zeronian. All were family friends and sorority sisters.

They wore off-the-shoulder, tea-length gowns of dusty rose taffeta. They all carried cascading bouquets including roses, lilies and fressia in shades of rose and pink.

The groom and ushers wore pearl gray formal tuxedos.

They included Jeff Stoke, best man; Mark Hansen, Robert Lazzarini, David McKensie, Andrew McSunas and Andrew Porter, all friends and/or fraternity brothers.

Worn by the mother of the bride was a two-piece tapestry silk dress with French lace, decorated with crystal beads and tiny silk roses in a soft rose shade. She carried a spray of roses.

Mother of the bridegroom wore a soft pink dress of silk chiffon with a delicately beaded tunic. She carried a sprig of dendorobium.

The reception was held at Annandale Golf Club, where the rose color scheme was carried out. Centerpieces on the tables were hurricanes in crystal bowls filled with flowers in pastel shades. They were set on mirrors surrounded by votive candles.

The bride graduated from Arcadia High School in 1979 and from UC Berkeley in 1983. She belonged to Sigma Kappa Sorority.

The bridegroom graduated from Arcadia High in 1978 and from UC Davis in 1982. He was a member of Theta Xi Fraternity.

The bride's grandparents, Evelyn R. Sanaladerer of Pasadena and Willis W. Fabry of Arcadia, were also present.

Following a honeymoon in Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. McAlister are at home in Sierra Madre.

Holidays pose threat to would-be dieters

Are you the one who buys the Halloween candy early, but then gives the children money because you've eaten all the candy? And do you volunteer to bring a batch of cookies to the Thanksgiving get-together because the group won't miss the 40-50 you tasted before you got there?

If this sounds familiar, you might consider attending a lecture entitled "Five Secrets to Successful Weight Control," Wednesday evening, Nov. 5, from 7:30-8:30 p.m. at the Sierra Madre Recreation Center, Wistaria Room, 621 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. This presentation will be the final one given by Emily Ballance, M. Ed. in Sierra Madre for this year.

It is free and open to the public. For more information or directions, call 792-5600.

Notes from the Attic

By Gertrude Gerke

— Oct. 25, 1951: The plaintive wheezing of an old-fashioned hand organ grinder echoed around the square Thursday. The leather-faced organ grinder seemed almost as impressed with his audience . . . R. A. Hawks and Jimmy Brown have developed a quaint custom at Sierra Engineering. Whenever the mood strikes them, they reach for their guitars and banjos and burst into song. A salesman the other day asked one of the front office girls who was making the music. "Oh that," the girl smiled. "That's Dick Hawks. He's president of our company."

— Oct. 26, 1961: More than 100 paint brushes and children invaded 38 Sierra Madre merchants' windows. The fete was sponsored by the Recreation Dept. and the S.M. Chamber of Commerce. First-place winners in each category are David Carson, Jim Schaefer, Chris Carlson and Bob Fraade . . . Ross Tyree enplanes for Coblenz, Germany to coordinate F-104 jet starfighter output. He is chief coordinator for Lockheed Aircraft Corps in Burbank . . . Some hungry person or persons invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vaugen last Wednesday, stealing only a one-pound can of ham and a bag of cookies. There wasn't even a peep from Penny, the Vaugen dog. Police believe that the intruder had a "speaking acquaintance" with Penny.

— Oct. 28, 1976: In ironing just one average batch of laundry at home, a housewife using a 6-pound iron lifts 1200 pounds of metal and pushes the iron six miles, according to the American Magazine . . . The music mobile by the Pasadena Junior Philharmonic Committee has returned to the Sierra Madre Elementary Schools in October and November, when the third grade classes are introduced to the structure of an orchestra.

Hear about tax law at Monrovia seminar

Foothill residents are urged to attend "Tax Reform and How It Affects You," a seminar by three Monrovia CPAs, Nov. 7, 8 - 9:30 a.m. The breakfast seminar will be held at the Holiday Inn in Monrovia.

The Monrovia CPAs who will discuss the 1986 Tax Reform Act include Del Exeter, Douglas E. Williams and Mark Schaefer. Exeter will talk on Compliance; Williams on Business Applications, and Schaefer on Real Estate Investments.

Cost is $8 if reservations are made by Nov. 5 and checks should be mailed to Monrovia Chamber of Commerce, 620 S. Myrtle Ave., Monrovia, 91016.

Mustangs stamp Arcadia Apaches

Mustangs from Muir High School in Pasadena improved their season record to 7-0 when they shut out the Apaches from Arcadia High School, 34-0 last Friday night at Pasadena City College.

The victory also increased the winning streak over the past two seasons to 17 for the defending Pacific League and Coastal Conference Champions.

"The kids played better than the score would indicate," explained Arcadia head coach Dick Salter.

The difference was Muir's No. 34, Rick Ervins, who scored three touchdowns and carried the ball 24 times for 195 yeards.

Arcadia's leading rusher, also No. 34, Chris McCarn carried the ball 11 times for 49 yards and caught two passes for 23 yards.

Apache quarterback Brad Scott threw for 54 yards, while Muir's playcaller, Vince Phillips, tossed for 98 yards.

Mustang defense held the Apaches to 182 total yards, while Muir chalked up 436 yards total offense.

Friday night's results left Muir, ranked number 2 in the CIF-Southern Section Coastal Conference, tied for first place in the Pacific League with Pasadena, each having a 2-0 record.

Arcadia, with a league record of 1-1, will return to Apache field next Friday night when they face the Tornadoes from Hoover High School at 7:30 p.m.

Arcadia sophomores shut out the Muir squad 30-0 in a Friday afternoon encounter. Rick Provenzano scored two touchdowns with Damon Groves, Justin Smith and Jon Widrig, each tallying one TD. This win gave the sophomores, who host Hoover on Friday at 5 p.m., a 6-1 season record.

Saturday action found the Arcadia Junior Varsity team blanking Muir 18-0 with Tony De Dino scoring two touchdowns and Chris Beanes one TD.

Thundercats claw to top

By Jo Ann Scott

Weekend soccer action for Region 2, serving Arcadia, Monrovia and Sierra Madre, found the Thundercats retain first place in girls' division 5 when they beat the Orange Crush, 3-1 behind two goals scored by Kristen Brunzell and one by Carolyn McCoppin.

In boys' division 3, two goals each by Joey Franco and Dean Giakas sparked the Apollos to a 4-1 win over the Patriots.

The Blast won their seventh and eighth straight games, beating the Lightnings 7-3, and the Celtics 5-1. Matt Kooba scored seven goals, while Gabriel Zoccoli tallied four in these two encounters.

In a defensive struggle, the Bullets and the Shamrocks managed a 1-1 time. Scott McLean scored for the Bullets on Jeff Peal's assist while Shawn Friedman scored for the Shamrocks with Blake Williams assisting.

Defensively, the Jaguars controlled the first half of the game, but the Apollos came to life in the second half on two goals by Dean Giakas and one goal each by Brian Douglas and Michael Andrews to beat the Jaguars, 4-0.

Matt Deringer scored two goals and Greg Roffeld, Eddie Lopez and Alex Tsai tallied one each as the Renegades beat the Lightnings, 5-1. James Brainard scored the Lightning's lone goal.

The Regals' Brian Knoop scored once as the Regals beat the Patriots, 1-0.

Religion

Bethany

Pastor Chan Man-Wing, a traveling pastor / teacher / church planter in China, will speak at the 10:30 a.m. worship celebration. Fondly known among friends as "George," Rev. Chan was in prison from 1960 to 1878. In the 60s he was developing a coastal church in a poor area to about 300 members. Released in 1978 after constant harrassment, he returned to his church to find the membership had increased to 5000 members.

Worship Celebration will be preceded by Church School for all ages from nursery through adults at the 9 a.m. hour. Children's Church will correspond with adult worship. Nursery, as always, will be provided.

The male chorale from Azusa Pacific University will be presenting an exciting evening of music at 6:30 p.m. under the direction of Dennis Royse.

Seniors' Safari, sponsored by Bethany Church will go to the Pilgrim Pageant in Claremont on Friday, Nov. 7, 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Details can be attained by calling 355-1403.

Wednesday Ministries are made up of Kardia Women at 9:15 a.m. until noon and Church Bible Studies with lecture and discussion for adults at 6:57 p.m. lead by Chuck Houston. The theme for both ministries will be "A Survey of the Psalms." The Awana Clubs for pre-school through 6th grade starts t 6;45 p.m. on the same day. XLR8 for senior high and Junior Varsity for junior high meet on Wednesday nights as well.

Bethany Church is located at 93 N. Baldwin Ave., Sierra Madre, (818) 355-1403.

Girl Scouts gave city roses

Many of the roses at Memorial Park mentioned in the article on the Estoppeys in The News were given in 1962 by the Girl Scouts of Sierra Madre to the city in celebration of the 50th year of Scouting. They were a special rose developed and named that year for this anniversary.

Congregational

On Communion Sunday, Nov. 2, Pastor Richard J. Anderson will be speaking on "The Major Teaching of I John" in the Sanctuary at all three morning services, 8:15, 9:45 and 11:15 a.m. The scriptural reference will be a summary of I John, chapters 1 through 5.

The major teachings of this First Epistle of John center around the persons and work of Jesus Christ. John, along with the other apostles of Jesus, bears witness to the true revelation of God in the person, Jesus Christ, the Son of God. He writes to them so that they may have fellowship with Him and with God the Father and His Son Jesus Christ. The result of maintaining this fellowship is joy. Again and again in this epistle, John questions the validity of what people say as opposed to the way they actually live. In modern saying, John is teaching that our "walk must match our talk" or our confession of faith is invalid.

At 3:30 p.m. on Nov. 2, there will be a display of antiques and other memorabilia of SMCC days gone by in Fellowship Hall. Immediately following at 5:30 p.m., there will be an all church potluck in Pritchard Hall. Following the potluck dinner, to top off the evening in a very special way, the Master's song and Heirborn young adult and high school choirs will offer some inspiring and uplifting music. This choir concert will be in the main sanctuary.

A morning of worship and praise, an afternoon of memorabilia and nostaliga, and an evening of good food, warm fellowship and stimulating music — truly a day and an evening to remember.

Singles rap night

The Single Adult Fellowship of Arcadia Presbyterian Church is sponsoring a series of "Prime Time" rap nights in November focused around the theme of "Caring."

The meetings will be held each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 14 at the church, 121 Alice St., Arcadia.

Topics to be covered in the series are: Nov. 12, "The Fine Art of Loving Ourselves"; Nov. 19, "Love and Listening"; and Nov. 26, "Loving the Stranger." Facilitator each evening will be Sunshine Woodworth.

Middle-aged singles who are divorced or widowed or who have not married are welcome to attend at no charge.

Lutheran

The theme for next Sunday's reformation service at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Sierra Madre is "Luther's Reformation Gift: The Open Bible." Sunday School and coffee hour follow. We invite you to come. The 7:30 p.m., Wednesday Bible class will continue its study of the last chapter of James. We invite you to our study group.

October 31 has come to be regarded as the birthday of the Protestant Reformation. It was on that day in 1517, that Martin Luther nailed his 95 sentences on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg.

What was Martin Luther's great discovery? It was the cardinal doctrine of the Bible, "Therefore, we conclude that a man is justified by faith, without the deeds of the law," and "By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God, not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8. Also Romans 11:6.

Singles seminar

"Resolving Conflicts: Caring Enough to Confront" is the title of a two-part seminar to be sponsored by the Single Adult Fellowship of Arcadia Presbyterian Church on Sunday mornings, Nov. 9 and 16, at 10:30 a.m. in the church Fellowship Lounge, 121 Alice St., Arcadia.

Speaker for each session will be Dr. Jack Tallman, clinical psychologist with Town and Country Psychological Services of Orange, CA.

Single adults of any age and marital status are welcome to attend at no charge.

Additional information is available through the Singles Desk of the church (818) 445-7470.

Methodist

"On the Mound or in the Dugout?" will be the sermon topic this Sunday at the Sierra Madre United Methodist Church. Rev. H. Elwood Wissmann, pastor, will be preaching at the 9:30 morning worship service. Nursery and child care are provided at this time. Also, Church School classes for children through grade six are held at this hour.

The Adult Study Group meets on Sunday at 10:45 and the special leader this week will be Phyllis Jenkins, who will be leading a discussion on the state ballot propositions. She is a teacher of government at Pasadena High School and each election provides an in-depth study of these various propositions. This group meets in the Lounge and all are invited to attend.

The special study on the Council of Bishops' Pastoral letter, "In Defense of Creation — the Nuclear Crisis and a Just Peace," continues on Sunday evening, 6:30-8. The topic for this week is "The Arms Race and American Society."

The Parsonage committee meets this Thursday, Oct. 30, 7:30 p.m. at the Parsonage. The board of trustees will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in the Lounge. The Women's Prayer and Support Group meets on Monday evenings, 7:30, at the Parsonage. The Afternoon Prayer and Support Group meets on Thursdays, 2 p.m., in the Lounge.
